

Missing opportunities and back in stock follow-up.

STANDARD OPERATING PROCEDURE — SALES

Document ID	SOP-SALES-001
Document type	Standard Operating Procedure
Department	Sales
Owner	Sales Lead
Version	v1.0
Effective	May 2026
Status	Active

1. Purpose

When a product is missing or out of stock and the customer shows interest, the Sales team logs the request so it can be followed up later and converted into a sale once stock returns. This SOP defines where the log lives, how to add a customer, how to monitor back-in-stock status on the DSS Dashboard, and how to action the resulting upsell opportunity.

2. Scope

Applies to every member of the Sales team who fields customer requests for products that are out of stock, missing from the warehouse pick, or otherwise unavailable at the time of order. Also applies to the Sales Lead, who monitors the log and chases follow-ups when stock returns.

Out of scope: dashboard maintenance, SKU-level inventory updates, and decisions about whether to re-stock a discontinued product. Those sit with Operations and the Dashboard owner (Section 9).

3. Where to find the Missing Opportunities log

Open the log from Microsoft Teams as follows.

1. Open Teams.
2. Open the DSS – Sales Hub channel.

3. Click the Missing Opportunities tab on the top menu.
4. Open the Excel file from the tab.

4. How to add a customer to the log

Adding a customer is a three-step process: pull the Customer ID from Shopify, let the Excel sheet auto-populate the contact fields, then fill in the order details by hand.

Step 1 — Get the Customer ID from Shopify

1. Open Shopify Admin.
2. Search for the customer (for example, Derek Young).
3. Open the customer record and copy the Customer ID from the URL in the address bar.

Step 2 — Paste the Customer ID into the Excel file

Paste the Customer ID into the next empty row of the log. The sheet auto-populates two fields from the ID, so do not type them manually:

- Customer name.
- Email address.

Step 3 — Fill in the order details by hand

The remaining columns require manual entry. Complete every field before closing the row:

- Order number/PO.
- Order date.
- Brand.
- Product name.
- Stamp (province / type, e.g. ON, QC).
- SKU.
- Backorder quantity (BO qty).

Customer ID	Customer Name	Customer Email	Order Number / PO	Order Date	Brand	Product Name	Status	SKU	Backorder

5. Why this is important

- Missing products become future sales opportunities once stock returns.
- Customers who showed interest can be contacted directly when their item is back.
- Production cycles change frequently because manufacturing is lab-based, so today's out-of-stock SKU may return next week.
- A current log is the source of every upsell call once stock comes back.

6. Where to check Back in Stock products

Back-in-stock status is published on the DSS Dashboard inside Teams.

1. Open Teams.
2. Open the DSS > General channel.
3. Open the DSS Dashboard tab.
4. Scroll to the bottom of the dashboard and look for the Back in Stock section.

7. How to use the Back in Stock info

The Back in Stock section shows three pieces of information for each SKU:

- Stock status.
- Back-in-stock detail (date and source).
- Quantities available and any notes.

Colour coding on the dashboard signals what to do next:

- Green highlight — the item is back in stock and can be offered to the customer.
- Red highlight — the item is still out of stock; keep the row in the log and check again next cycle.

Your status is set to do not disturb. You'll only get notifications for urgent messages and from your priority contacts.

Partial-quantity example

When the available quantity is less than the customer's original request, offer the partial fill explicitly. Worked example:

- Customer needed 20 units.
- Only 13 units are back in stock.
- Message to customer: "Only 13 units are currently available. Would you like to proceed with those?"

8. Upsell opportunity

When stock returns, every back-in-stock row is also a chance to grow the order. Use these three plays:

- Combine outstanding back orders for the same customer to reduce shipping cost.
- Suggest adding complementary products to round out a full order.
- Increase the order value at the moment of confirmation, while the customer is already engaged.

9. If the dashboard is missing information

When a product, stamp, or quantity is missing or looks wrong on the dashboard:

- Speak to Juan (Dashboard owner) and report the missing product or column.
- Confirm whether a dashboard update is needed before continuing the follow-up.
- Post the question in the Missed Opportunities Teams channel so the rest of the team sees the answer.

Gabriel Jean Wednesday 9:54 am

Lol, I already swapped my personal units yesterday after I saw your message, But for the rest I am taking a look will have to cut into Corey's order I guess

Today

5:09 pm

Hi David, do we have an upcoming order for STLTH OG for MB? Also, I was thinking we should maybe add the Manitoba stamp/type in the dashboard when we check upcoming STLTH orders as for now we only have ON, QC, and ST. Thanks

Message in Missed Opportunities

Figure 6 — Missed Opportunities Teams channel: the same place to flag missing dashboard data and to track reservation/lay-by overlap.

10. Frequency of checks

- Check the Back in Stock section every Monday.
- Top up with a second pass during a quieter period later in the week.
- After every check, action any green rows the same day before the customer goes elsewhere.

11. Support

Anyone who needs extra time, training, or context to keep the log current can ask in the Teams General group. The Sales Lead reviews requests there and pairs the rep with whoever can unblock them.

Non-Compliance

Customer requests for out-of-stock products that are not entered in the Missing Opportunities log are treated as lost sales and counted against the Sales team's recovery metrics. Repeated omissions surface in the Sales Lead's weekly review and are addressed in the rep's next one-on-one. Knowingly clearing rows from the log without a confirmed customer outcome is a documented performance issue.

Exceptions

Skipping a row is permitted only when the customer has already cancelled the request in writing or has been refunded for the missing units. The Sales Lead approves any other deviation in advance, and the approval is recorded as a comment on the affected row in the Excel log (initials, date, reason).
